OFFICIAL

CoS,

As discussed.

I understand the intent is to consider the outcomes of Commander Smith's review of the current brief – which encapsulates the investigative work done based on the response by the ACTDPP.

Subsequent to that will be a decision to proceed to the issue of a summons or not to proceed. Ms Higgins has been provided with timely updates on the status and this will continue.

Best regards,

Peter

 Subject: Media statement - Parl House alleged assault investigation [SEC=OFFICIAL]

OFFICIAL

Boss,

In relation to potential further reporting in relation to the status of the investigation into the alleged sexual assault, we propose the following be sent to Samantha Maiden.

The investigation in relation to an alleged assault at Parliament House in 2019 remains active and ongoing.

On background and not for attribution to ACT Policing: As noted by the ACT DPP's previous comments (<https://www.canberratimes.com.au/story/7332481/dpp-advises-cops-on-higgins-case-as-charges-considered/>), a partial brief of evidence has been assessed. As with all matters ACT Policing investigates, there is the option to provide a partial brief of evidence while further evidence is collected. ACT Policing has the option to submit a completed brief of evidence for final review to the ACT DPP as part of any investigation before proceeding.*
